Degree Works Dashboard for Advisors

Degree Works at UNCG

Degree Works is an academic requirement auditing and advising tool used by advisors and students to help monitor and guide a student's progress towards a degree. The Degree Works audit is the final determining factor used by the University.

Advisors can use Degree Works when meeting with students to help plan future coursework and make academic decisions that best align with their program goals.

To request access to Degree Works please see Degree Works – Access Instructions & Permissions

Accessing Degree Works Responsive Dashboard

Use the following URL to access Degree Works Responsive Dash:

Advisor Level Access in Degree Works

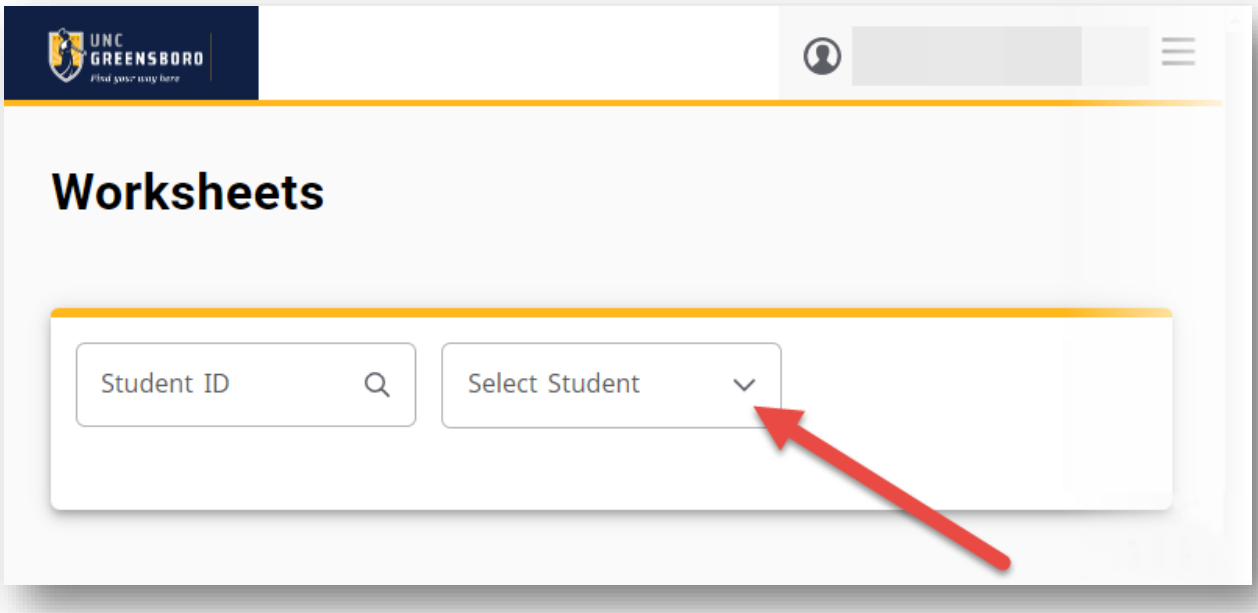

Advisors are given one of two levels of permissions (Standard Advisor or Uber Advisor) in Degree Works as outlined in Degree Works – Access Instructions & Permissions.

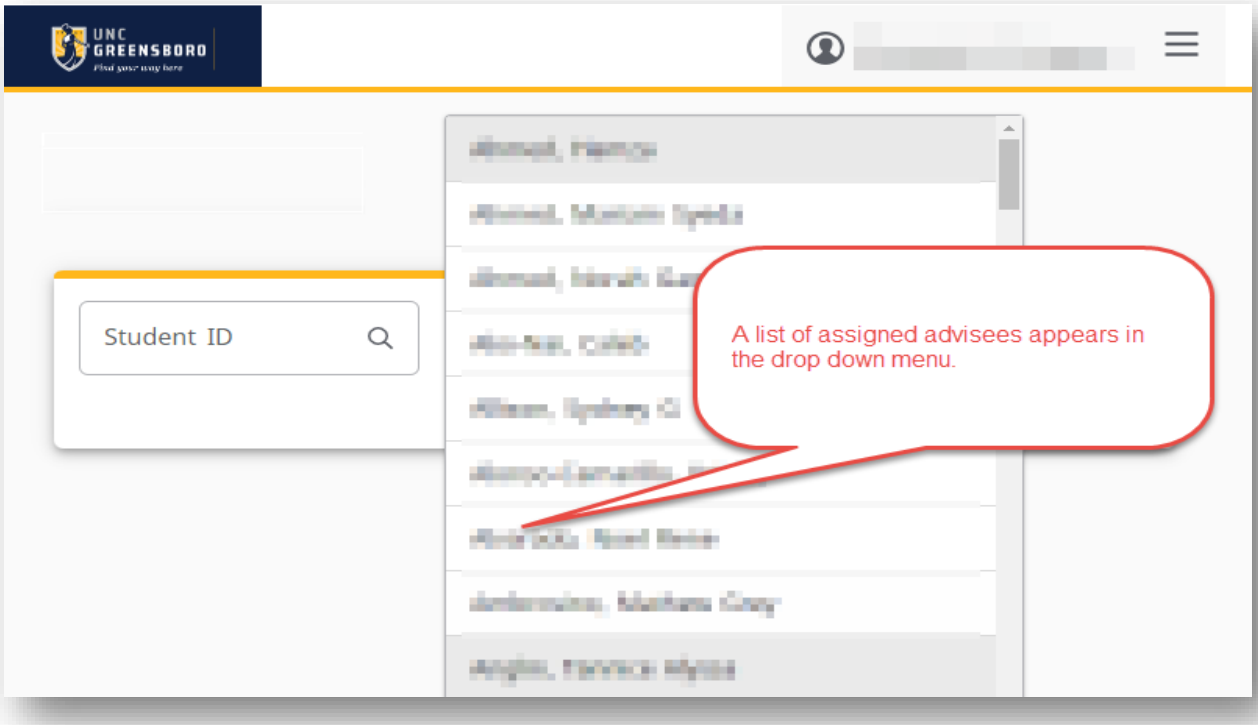

Finding Students

Selecting Assigned Advisees from dropdown list (Standard Advisors)

Standard advisors who have been assigned specific advisees in Banner will see these students appear in the dropdown list that appears to the right of the Student ID entry field:

Finding Students using the Advanced Seach (Uber Advisors)

Advisors with Uber Advisor level access will not see a dropdown list of students, instead an option for Advanced search will be shown. This allows the user to find students by selecting criteria from dropdown boxes. Alternatively, a student's Banner ID can be used in the search box:

UNC GREENSBORO
University
Registrar's Office

In the example below, the search finds all Computer Science seniors with a 2023-24 catalog year:

Search Result Limit

Degree Works will display a maximum of 250 students in the Advanced Search results; adding more criteria to your search will help narrow results:

> Your search criteria returned more results (486) than the allowed maximum (250). Those 250 are shown below, but we recommend that you refine your search and try again.

Student Header

The Student Header contains information about a student's program of study, advisor name, hours earned, academic standing, GPA, and other data elements where applicable.

UNC GREENSBORO
University
Registrar's Office

Student Header Elements:

Level – Displays the educational level of the student.

Classification – Displays classification as determined by the number of hours the student has completed (including hours from another institution). For undergraduates these appear as freshman, sophomore, junior, or senior.

Major/Minor/Concentration – Displays all programs of study the student is enrolled in given the selected degree type.

Program – Displays student's degree program designation (e.g., B.A., B.S., B.S.W., M.A., etc.)

College – Displays the College to which each student's program of study belongs.

Pre-Professional Interests – Displays post-graduate professional interest if applicable.

Advisor – Displays the first name and last name of the student's assigned advisor.

Campus – Displays whether the student is enrolled in an on campus or online program.

Academic Standing – Displays the student's most recent academic standing from Banner.

UNCG Credits Earned – Displays total number of credit hours earned in completed UNCG courses.

Transfer Credits Earned – Displays the total number of credit hours transferred from outside schools, if applicable.

Overall Credits Earned – Displays the total of UNCG credit hours and Transfer Credits Earned hours.

Overall GPA – Displays the GPA of all courses on the audit.

Two-Plus Program – Displays if the student is enrolled in the Two-Plus Program.

Holds – Displays registration hold information indicators (when applicable).

Applied for Graduation – Displays the term that the student has applied to graduate in.

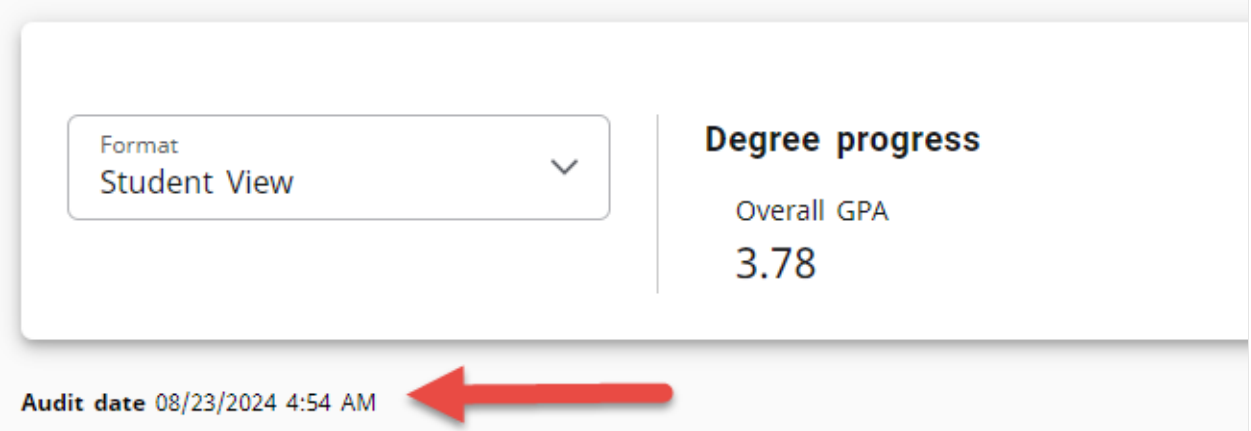

Note: Student Header elements are comprised of selected Banner information fields; if a student does not have any data for a field listed above, the item label will not display. The use of additional student information systems may be required to verify additional student information not displayed in the Student Header.

Audit Date, Degree Progress/GPA, Process Button

Student data is refreshed nightly based on activity (change of major, registration, grading) that has occurred on a student's academic record from the previous day.

When accessing a student's audit, it is important to review the audit date, found just below the Degree Progress block, to ensure that the audit information is up to date:

Refresh the data by clicking the Process button:

In-Progress and Preregistered Classes

Advisors have the option to include or exclude in-progress courses for the current term and registered courses for the upcoming term when displaying a student's audit.

Note: Clicking the Process button will generate a new audit in Degree Works with the most up to date information, but it will replace the oldest historical audit (see below).

Audit History

Audit History shows the student's progress at a given point in time. It appears just above the Degree progress block:

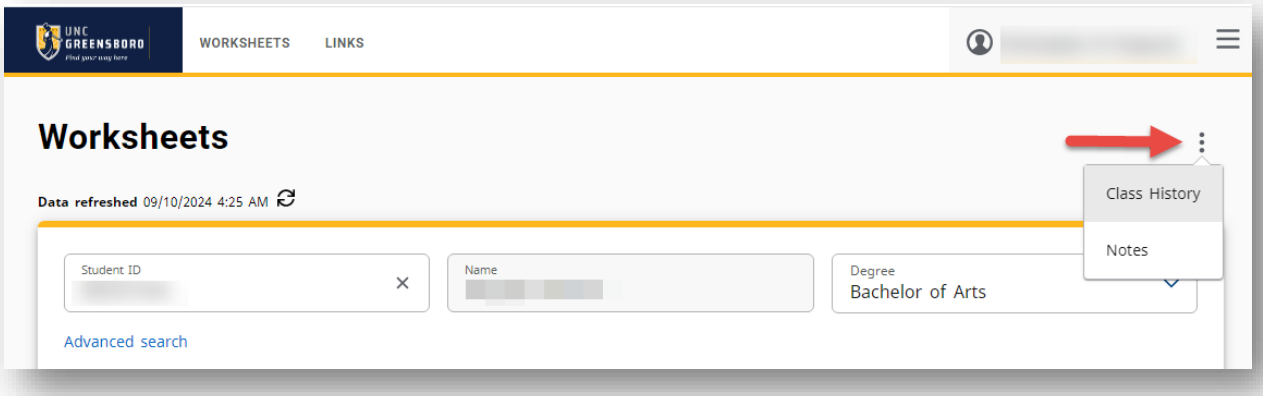

Three (3) historic audits are kept per degree type for each student. Clicking Process generates a new audit - this erases the oldest historic audit in the dropdown list:

Class History

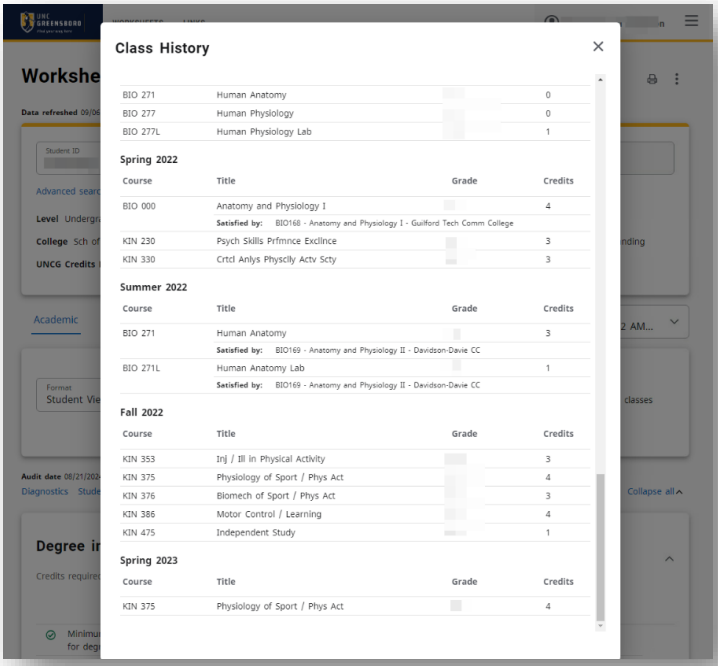

Class History displays a chronological view of in-progress and completed courses; grade information is also included in this section.

Click the three dots (⋮) located in the upper right portion of the screen to access the Class History link.

View class history information details for all terms by using the scrollbar for navigation:

Blocks (Degree, General Education, Major, Concentration, Minor

Components of a student's requirements are divided into sections on Degree Works called blocks. The top of the block will have a heading describing the information that it contains, and then the rest of the block displays a list of requirements and/or courses. Students will have different combinations of blocks depending on their degree type and the various components of their specific curriculum. Blocks that contain degree requirements will have one of the following labels describing the status of that block: INCOMPLETE, IN-PROGRESS, SEE ADVISOR, or COMPLETE.

Degree Block

At the top of the Degree Block, the degree type is listed, along with the status label:

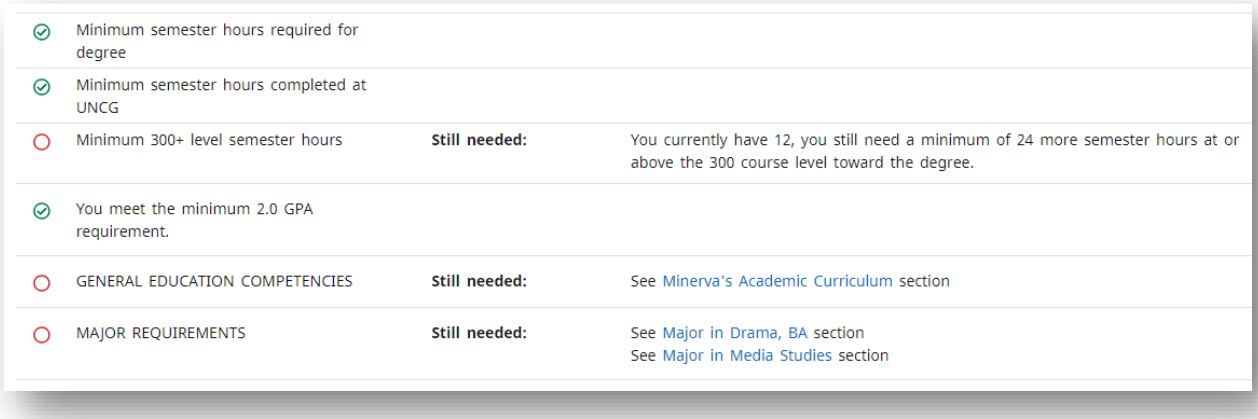

UNC GREENSBORO
University Registrar's Office

Note: Students should not be advised to apply to graduate unless this label is either IN-PROGRESS or COMPLETE, unless students are awaiting transfer course credit, awaiting curriculum modifications, or are repeating a class for which they have already received credit in order to complete any outstanding requirements.

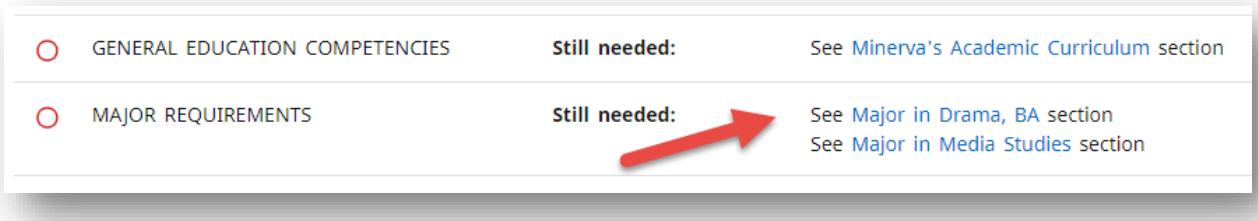

The top of the Degree Block also lists the total number of credit hours required to complete the degree, the number of credit hours applied, the student's catalog year, and GPA. Note: See below for more information regarding Credits (Overall vs. Applied).

The rest of the Degree Block shows University requirements for completing this degree and whether or not they have been met. This block will look different depending on the degree type, whether a student is on an older catalog year, and whether they have additional requirements from the College of Arts and Sciences.

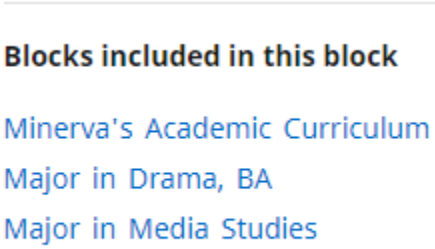

✓ Minimum semester hours required for degree
✓ Minimum semester hours completed at UNCG
○ Minimum 300+ level semester hours	Still needed:	You currently have 12, you still need a minimum of 24 more semester hours at or above the 300 course level toward the degree.

○ MAJOR REQUIREMENTS	Still needed:	See Major in Drama, BA section See Major in Media Studies section

Some missing requirements will include blue hyperlinks to allow you to more easily navigate to the other blocks where this requirement is displayed in more detail.

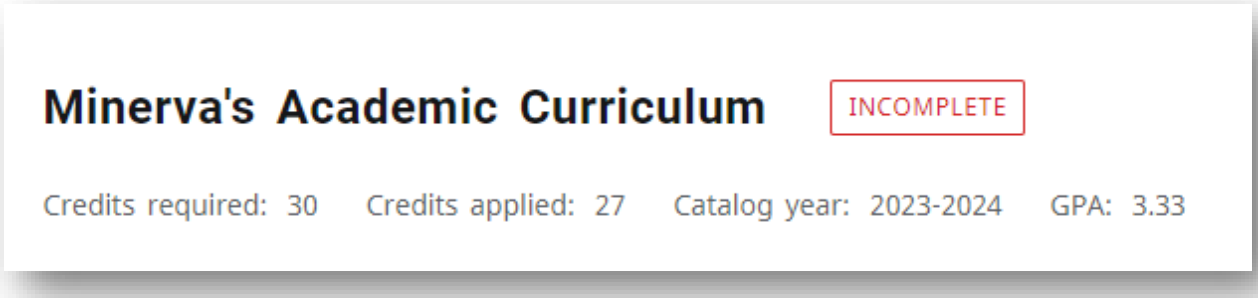

The bottom of the Degree Block will have blue hyperlinks to allow you to navigate quickly to the other blocks on the student's degree audit.

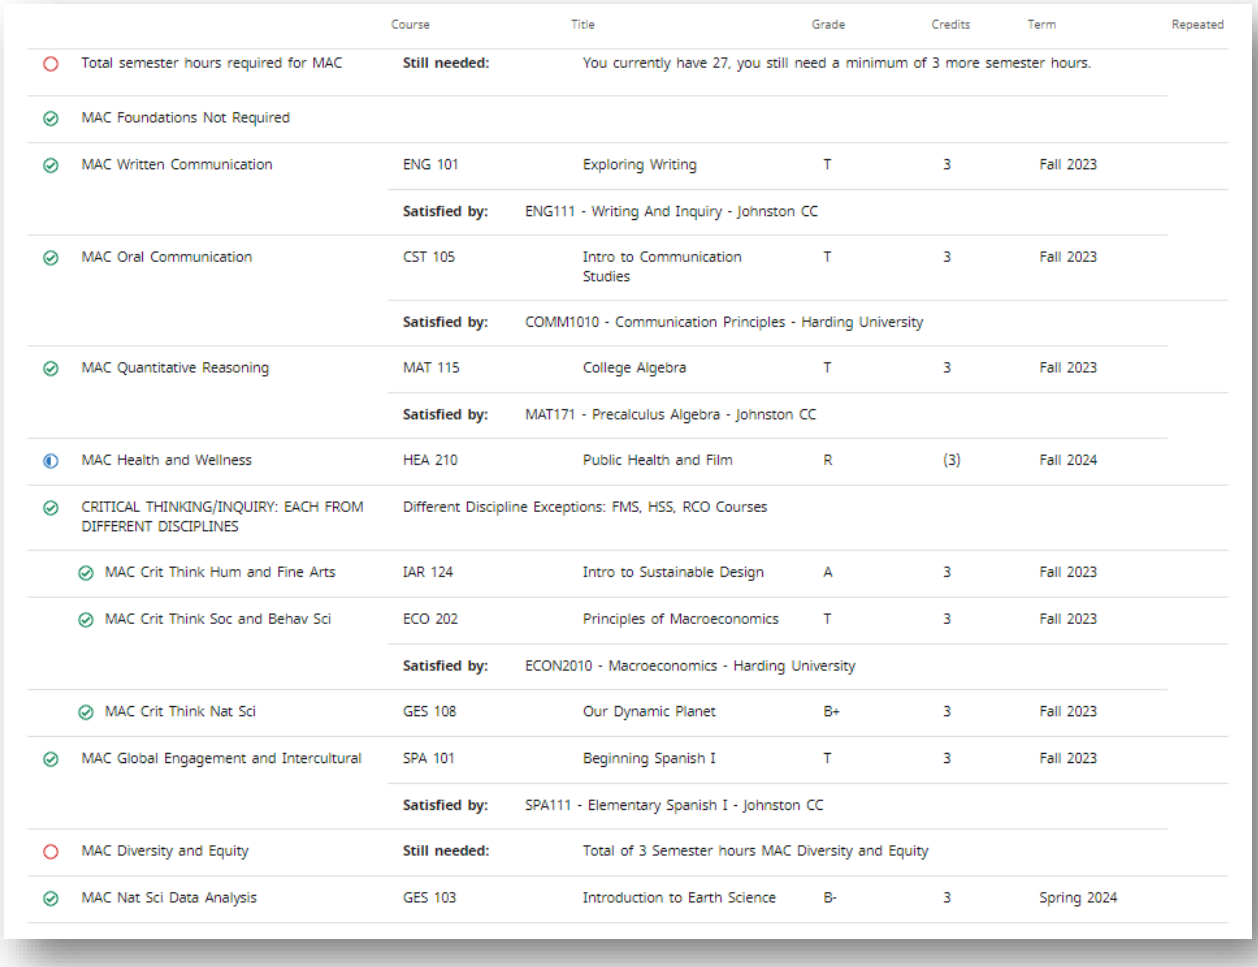

General Education Requirements Block

This block is titled Minerva's Academic Curriculum for undergraduate students on catalog years beginning with 2021-2022 (for students on catalog years prior to 2021 this block will instead be called General Education Core). The block shows University requirements for general education.

This will be followed by the list of course requirements, indicating which courses have been used to meet the completed requirements, and which requirements are still unmet.

Major, Concentration, and Minor Blocks

These blocks display the program-specific degree requirements that will vary depending on which combination of majors, concentrations, and minors make up a student's curriculum. Each of these will have the title and label indicating the status of that block, as well as the GPA and catalog year. Depending on whether it is a requirement for that specific program, the top of the block may or may not also include credits required, credits applied, and other notes.

Electives, In-Progress, Insufficient and Not Counted

Electives Block

The Electives Block lists all courses (both UNCG and transfer courses) for which the student has earned credit and/or are currently in-progress, and which have not been used to meet a requirement in one of the previous blocks.

Note: Courses listed in the Electives Block are counted toward the total number of credit hours applied that is calculated in the Degree Block.

UNC GREENSBORO

Electives

Credits applied: 72 Classes applied: 28

Classes in Electives are listed alphabetically by subject and ordinally by number. Classes for which a student has not received credit (either by not passing or by withdrawing from the course, etc.) will not show under Electives.

In-Progress

The In-Progress Block lists all classes for which the student is currently registered. This includes courses in the current semester as well as any registration for a future term. This does not include a class from the current semester from which a student has withdrawn. Classes that appear in the In-Progress Block will also appear in one of the other Degree Works blocks, either a block showing requirements (major, minor, etc.) or in a different block, such as Electives.

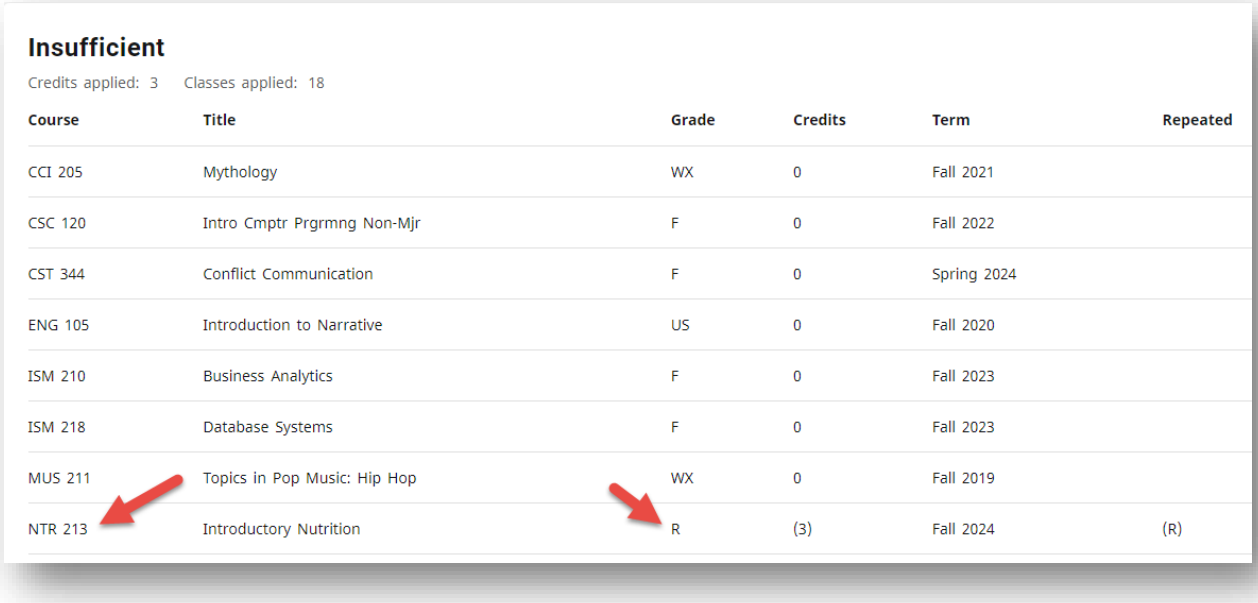

UNC GREENSBORO
University
Registrar's Office

Insufficient

The Insufficient Block is one of the bottom blocks on the Degree Works audit. This is a list of courses that cannot be counted towards the student's degree. The top of the block indicates Credits applied and Classes applied in a similar way to the Electives Block. Classes are listed alphabetically and numerically.

Note: When a class is listed under Insufficient, it has no bearing on how the class appears on the student's transcript. Classes on the transcript will still be grouped by semester, regardless of whether or not they appear under Insufficient on Degree Works.

Most classes that are listed under Insufficient are there because the student has not passed the course, has withdrawn from the course, or has repeated a course that is not repeatable for credit. When a student repeats a class that is not allowed to be repeated for credit, one of the classes will appear under Insufficient and the other will count toward their degree. The in-progress will sort into the Insufficient block until the student receives a final grade, at which point the course with the lower grade will then go under Insufficient.

Insufficient

MUS 211	Topics in Pop Music: Hip Hop	WX	0	Fall 2019
NTR 213	Introductory Nutrition	R	(3)	Fall 2024	(R)

In this example the student has not passed most of the classes listed under Insufficient, but make note of the in-progress class, NTR 213. The reason this in-progress class is listed here is because the student already received credit for NTR 213 in a previous semester (either at UNCG or through transfer credit) and so the student is not allowed to receive credit for the class twice. See below for more information about Repeated Courses and how they appear in Degree Works.

Not Counted

Like the Insufficient Block, the Not Counted Block contains classes that are not counting toward the student's requirements, but in this case, they are typically courses that are designed to be 0 credits (such as a lab), rather than classes for which a student received 0 credits because they did not pass or withdrew.

Course Types (UNCG, Transfer, Placeholder, Complete vs. In-Progress)

UNCG Courses

UNCG Courses on Degree Works will include the course subject abbreviation and number, the title, grade, number of credits, and semester during which the course was or is being taken.

Transfer Courses

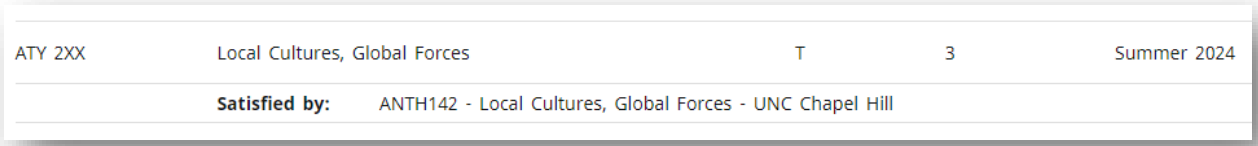

Transfer courses all contain the same information as UNCG courses, but with some additions. One of the easiest ways to see if a course is a transfer course is by looking at the grade – all transfer courses will have a grade of T for transfer. These courses will first list the UNCG equivalent subject, number, and title. Below that will say Satisfied by and the subject, number, and title of the course at the transfer institution, as well as the name of the transfer institution. In example below, the MAC Quantitative Reasoning Requirement has been met using the class MAT 190, which transferred from Suffolk County Community College and was called MAT 126 at that institution.

MAC Quantitative Reasoning	MAT 190	Precalculus	T	4	Fall 2022
	Satisfied by:	MAT126 - Precalculus Mathematics - Suffolk County CC-Selden

When a transfer course does not have a direct equivalent course offered at UNCG, it will instead transfer as an elective course. Electives will either use the subject ELE, or the specific subject abbreviation. Older transfer courses that come in as electives will have 000 for the course number. Newer transfer courses that come in as electives will have a number followed by XX to indicate the level (for example, 3XX indicating 300-level elective credit).

In the example below, the course ANTH 142 from UNC Chapel Hill did not have a direct equivalent at UNCG, so it transferred as an Anthropology elective at the 200-level: ATY 2XX.

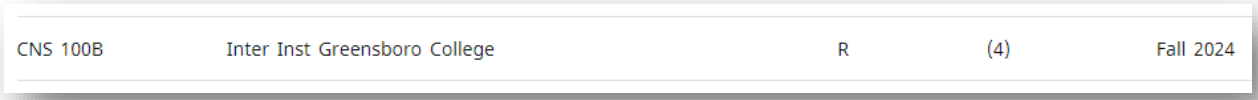

ATY 2XX	Local Cultures, Global Forces		T	3	Summer 2024
	Satisfied by:	ANTH142 - Local Cultures, Global Forces - UNC Chapel Hill

Placeholder Courses

Students taking courses through Study Abroad, the Greater Greensboro Consortium, or the Interinstitutional Program might have Placeholder Courses showing on their Degree Works while the course is in-progress. The actual course will not show until after the credit has been earned at the end of the semester and end-of-term processing has taken place. After that point it will look like a transfer course.

Complete vs. In-Progress Courses

When a class is Complete, it will have a final grade (that final grade may indicate that the student did not earn credit, for example it might be an F or a withdrawal). It will also list the credits earned (again, the credits might be listed as 0 if the student did not pass the class). When a class is In-Progress, the grade is listed as a "dash" (-) and credits are listed in parentheses, for example: (3).

Complete, In-Progress, and Not Complete Requirements

Each block on the student's Degree Works audit will have a colored label showing COMPLETE, IN-PROGRESS, SEE ADVISOR or INCOMPLETE at the top of the block. This is referring to the combined requirements contained by that block. Individual requirements instead use different colored circles to indicate the status of that specific requirement. These will be located to the left of each requirement.

Complete

When a requirement is Complete, this will be indicated by a green check mark inside a green circle:

In this example, the student's MAC Written Communication requirement has been met by the transfer course ENG 101 (below the course there is an explanation showing that the course was transferred from AP test credit).

In-Progress

When a requirement is In-Progress, this will be indicated by a blue half-circle inside a blue circle:

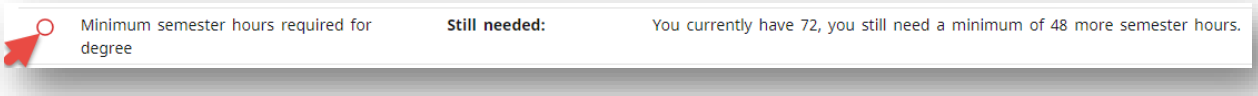

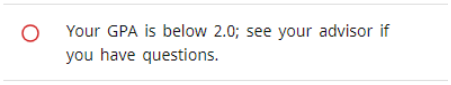

In this example, the student is currently enrolled in ENG 383. The requirement is not marked complete because the student has not yet received their final grade for the course. The in-progress symbol means that if the student completes the course and receives a sufficient final grade, the requirement will be complete.

Not Complete

When a requirement is Not Complete, this will be indicated by an empty red circle:

In most cases, when a requirement is not complete, an explanation of what is missing is listed on the right after the words Still needed. This could be a requirement for classes, credit hours, GPA, etc.

UNC GREENSBORO
University Registrar's Office

Credits (Overall vs. Applied)

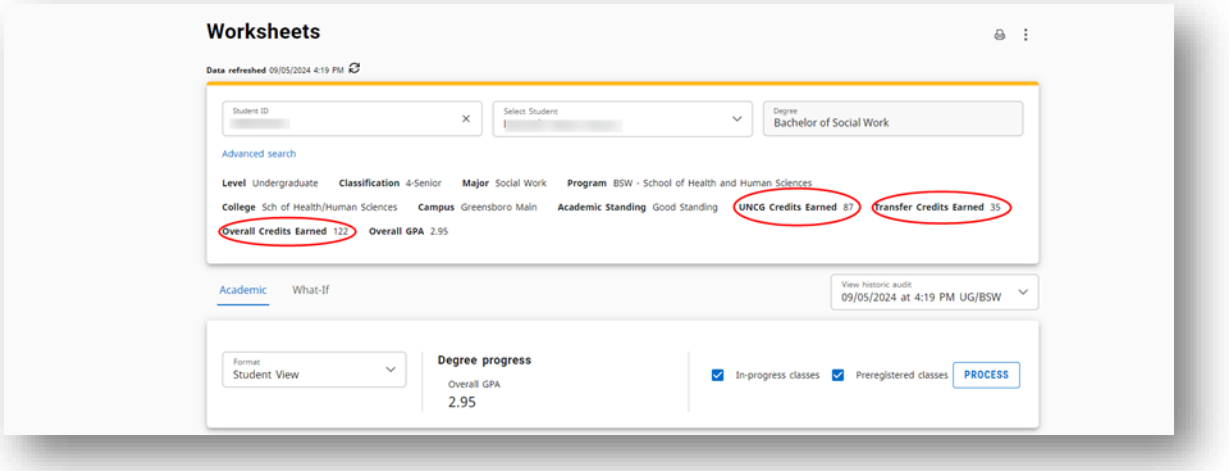

Degree Works will show the number of credits earned by a student in the following ways: Applied Credits and Overall Credits Earned.

Applied Credits

Applied Credits are credit hours counted toward students' completion of their degree requirements. The total number of applied credit hours are shown in the Degree block heading section. Applied Credits include in-progress course work in addition to the completed course work.

Overall Credits Earned

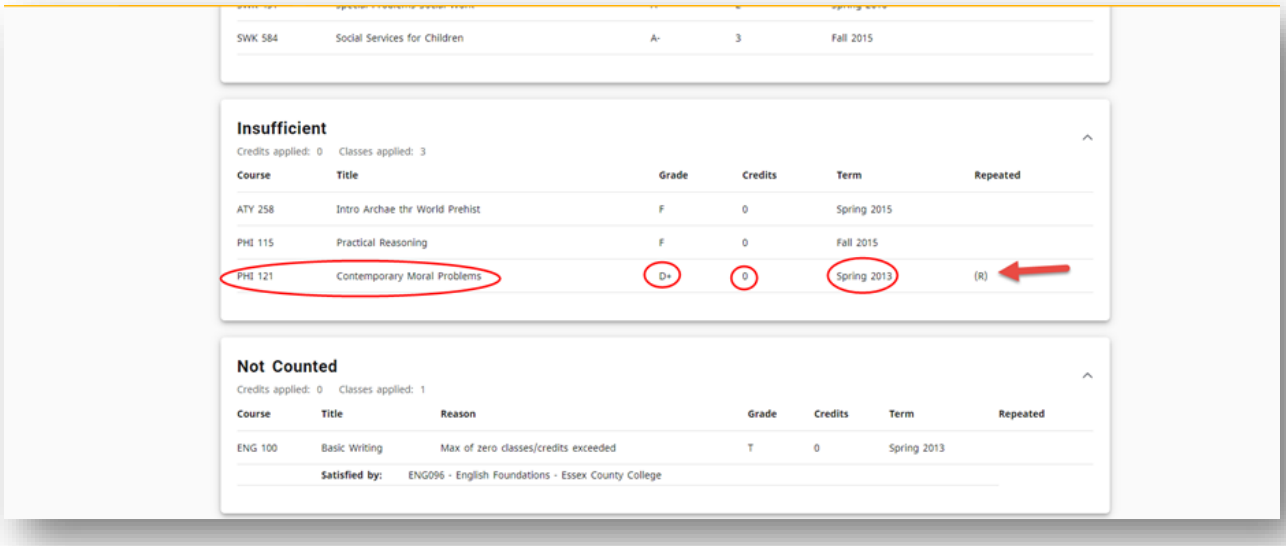

Overall Credits Earned only include hours that students have completed and have received credit. The credits consist of UNCG Credits Earned and Transfer Credits Earned, which are listed in the Student Header section of the audit.

Repeated Courses

Repeated Courses are courses that have been taken more than once. This usually occurs when students initially did not complete courses with an acceptable or required grade but there are also courses that are repeatable for credit. These courses are identified with the (R) symbol in the Repeated column.

Repeatable for Credit Courses

There are scenarios where the same course appears on the audit multiple times. However, it does not mean students are retaking them to achieve a higher letter grade. These are known as Repeatable Courses. Some examples are Ensemble (ENS) 318, Music Performance (MUP) 115, and Music Performance (MUP) 153. In addition, there are some Repeatable Courses that can be taken multiple times when the topic varies while students earn the required credit hours and a satisfactory grade. They are identified as Repeatable Special Topic Courses. An example of this type is Nutrition 609A, which is viewed in the screenshot below.

Nonrepeatable

When a student repeats a class that is not allowed to be repeated for credit, one of the classes will appear under Insufficient and the other will count toward their degree. The in-progress will sort into the Insufficient block until the student receives a final grade, at which point the course with the lower grade will then go under Insufficient.

Grades/Grade Types

All grades shown on the student's Degree Works audit are posted in Banner and on the transcript. If a department submits a grade change for an Incomplete (I) or a Not Reported (NR) grade, then the updated information will be seen in Degree Works as well. Please refer to the Undergraduate and Graduate Grading Systems listed under the respective level policies in the University's Catalog.

Curriculum Modifications

Curriculum Modifications are submitted by designated faculty and staff advisors who would like to substitute or waive major, minor, or concentration requirements for their students. C https://reg.uncg.edu/protected/departmental-request-for-student-curriculum-modification/

A university official processes the Curriculum Modification and chooses the appropriate type of modification to apply to the student record based on what action is requested.

Exceptions Block

Once an University official processes a Curriculum Modification for a student, it appears in the Exceptions Block. It also lists the block where the Exception is located. Example: The Exception is a Substitute. The Exception is located in the Major block of the audit.
